

Nearshoring and the Future of Global Value Chains

16 June 2022, 2:30 pm CEST

The Dome, Luiss Campus at Viale Romania 32, Rome

2:30 pm Welcome of participants

Valentina Meliciani

Director, Luiss School of European Political Economy

3:00 pm Measuring Exposure to Risk in Global Value Chains

Alessandro Borin

Economist, Banca d'Italia

Michele Mancini

Economist, Banca d'Italia

Co-author

Daria Taglioni

Research Manager, Trade and International Integration,
Development Economics, The World Bank

3:30 pm Supply Chain Fragmentation and the Global Trade Elasticity: A New Accounting Framework

Bart Los

Professor of the Economics of Technological Progress and Structural Change, University of Groningen

Co-authors

Marcel P. Timmer

Professor of Growth and Development Economics,
University of Groningen

Robert Stehrer

Scientific Director, The Vienna Institute for International Economic Studies

Gaaitzen J. de Vries

Professor of International Economics and Development Economics,
University of Groningen

4:00 pm Break

4:10 pm Testing the Smile Curve: Functional Specialisation and Value Creation in GVCs

Roman Stöllinger

Economist, The Vienna Institute for International Economic Studies

4:40 pm Nearshoring and Farshoring within Global Value Chains

Ariel Wirkierman

Lecturer, Goldsmiths, University of London

Co-authors

Filippo Bontadini

Research Fellow, Luiss University

Valentina Meliciani

Director, Luiss School of European Political Economy

Maria Savona

Professor of Applied Economics, Luiss University and Professor of Economics of Innovation, SPRU, Science Policy Research Unit, University of Sussex

5:20 pm Round Table

Chair

Maria Savona

Professor of Applied Economics, Luiss University and Professor of Economics of Innovation, SPRU, Science Policy Research Unit, University of Sussex

Discussion

Luciano Fratocchi

Professor of Management Engineering, University of L'Aquila

Michael Gasiorek

Director, UK Trade Policy Observatory

Lucia Tajoli

Professor of Political Economics, Politecnico di Milano

Andrea Linarello

Economist, Banca d'Italia

It is possible to follow the event online by registering here.

To attend the event in person, it is necessary to register here.