

Fabiano Schivardi

Fabiano Schivardi is professor of political economy at Luiss and research fellow at the Einaudi Institute of Economics and Finance, LEAP and CEPR. He specializes in industrial economics and corporate finance. He is the holder of the ERC Advanced Grant 2020-2025 on “Industrial structure and European productivity divergence”. He has a PhD in Economics from Stanford University and a degree from Bocconi University, and has been a consultant to public and private bodies. His essays have been published in various international journals.