Giorgio Di Giorgio

Giorgio Di Giorgio is Professor of Monetary Theory and Policy and Director of the Arcelli Center for Monetary and Financial Studies at LUISS Guido Carli University in Rome. In the past, he served as Deputy Rector for Organization and Faculty (2018-21), Deputy Rector for Corporate and Business Relations (2017-2018), Chairman of the Department of Economics and Finance (2011-2014), Dean of the Faculty of Economics and Management (2007-2011) and Deputy Rector for International Development (2003-2005) of the same University. He holds a Laurea in Economics cum laude from Sapienza University of Rome (1989) and a Ph.D. in Economics from Columbia University in the City of New York (1996). His research focuses on monetary policy, financial intermediation, dynamic macroeconomics, international finance and banking regulation. He has been a visiting scholar / professor at Columbia University (Department of Economics, Graduate School of Business and School of International and Public Affairs), at the Gabelli School of Business of Fordham University, at EDHEC in Nice, at Universitat Pompeu Fabra and at the Utrecht School of Economics.

Within his extensive publishing activity his papers appeared in journals such as the Journal of Money, Credit and Banking, the Journal of Economic Dynamics and Control, the Journal of Banking and Finance, International Finance, the Journal of Financial Stability, Economic Modelling, the International Review of Economics and Finance. He is the Editor of Rivista Bancaria – Minerva Bancaria, one the oldest Italian academic journals in the field of banking and finance, a former Editor of the Journal of Banking and Finance and of Economic Notes and a past President of the Multinational Finance Society.

Prof. Di Giorgio also serves and has served in the Board of banks, listed and financial companies. In 1997-2002 he served as an economic advisor at the Treasury Department of the Italian Ministry for the Economy and Finance (MEF).