

Lorenzo Codogno

Lorenzo Codogno is the founder and chief economist of his own consulting vehicle, LC Macro Advisors Ltd, Visiting Professor in Practice at the European Institute of the London School of Economics and Visiting Professor at the College of Europe, Bruges. Prior to launching his advisory service, he was chief economist and director general at the Treasury Department of the Italian Ministry of Economy and Finance (May 2006-February 2015) in charge of the economic analysis and planning directorate, with responsibility for macroeconomic forecasts, analysis of the Italian/international economy and domestic/international monetary and financial issues. Throughout this period, he was also head of the Italian delegation at the Economic Policy Committee of the European Union, which he chaired from January 2010 to December 2011. At the OECD, he headed the Italian delegation at the Economic Policy Committee, the Economic and Development Review Committee and the Working Party 1, which he chaired from Jan 2013 to Feb 2015. He joined the Ministry after working at the Bank of America, where for eleven years he was managing director, senior economist, and co-head of European Economics based in London. He studied at the University of Padua in Italy and holds a Master's Degree from Syracuse University, Syracuse, NY, USA.