

Antonio Majocchi

Antonio Majocchi is currently Full professor at the Deloitte Chair in International Management and Global Challenges Dipartimento di Impresa e Management, Luiss University in Rome. Previously, he was Head of the Department of Economics and Management of the University of Pavia and President of the Pavia Science Park, the University business incubator.

His main research interests concern firms internationalization strategies, international marketing and international entrepreneurship and the SMEs export performance drivers. His most recent interest regards the impact of corporate governance on firms' international strategies. He publishes his research in international journals such as: Journal of World Business, Journal of International Business Studies, Entrepreneurship Theory and Practice, International Small Business Journal, International Business Review, Transnational corporation, Journal of Business Ethics, Journal of Small Business Management; Management International Review.

He has taught international business and marketing at the Faculty of management of the University of Alcalà (Spain) and taught regularly at the Management School of the Strasbourg University (France). In the academic year 2012-2013 he taught International Business at the Faculty of Economics and Social Sciences of the University of Fribourg (CH).

He carried out research and consulting activities with Italian leading firms and banks and with international institutions (OECD, Confindustria and European Commission). He has been member of the Governing body of the Musing Project: Risk management Business intelligence and internationalisation (EU Commission, Sixth framework program) and a visiting scholar at D'Amore-McKim School of business (Northeastern University, Boston USA), the Department of Management of the King's College (University of London) and at the Departamento de Dirección de Empresas "Juan José Renau Piqueras", University of Valencia (Spain).