

Alessandro Zattoni

English

Alessandro Zattoni (PhD) is Professor of Corporate strategy and Corporate governance (2015-), and the Head of the Business and Management Department of Luiss University (2017-). Before joining LUISS, he held faculty positions at Bocconi and Parthenope University.

He has been the national representative (2012-15) and a member of the Scientific Council (2018-23), and he is a Fellow (2019-) and the President (2022-) of EURAM. He is a board member (November 2019-) and the former President (2020-2022) of ICGS. He is a board member of AIDEA (2024-).

He has been the Director of the Strategic and Entrepreneurial Management Department (2009-2012) and of the Open Enrolment Programs Division (2012-2015) of SDA Bocconi. More recently, he has been the Associate Dean for executive education (2015-17) and a member of the Steering Committee of Luiss Business School (2015-17).

His major interest of research is corporate governance, with a focus on board of directors, governance codes, and sustainability. He is currently an Advisory Board Member of CGIR (2019-), an Editorial Board Member of JMS (2012-) and a Consulting Editor of JWB (2019-).