Stefano Chiappo

Stefano Chiappo is currently completing an MSC program at Brown University, building on his BSc in Applied Mathematics-Economics from the same institution. His education and internships have honed his abilities in data analysis and financial modelling, with a special focus on utilising coding languages such as Python, SQL, Matlab, and Stata for data manipulation and analysis. Stefano's fluency in Italian, English, Spanish, and working proficiency in French complements his technical skills, enabling him to approach research from a multi-lingual and multi-disciplinary perspective.
